

INREV REPORTING

Unrivalled expertise with INREV guidelines

In the wake of the ongoing drive to standardise real estate reporting and performance measurement, INREV guidelines have become the most recognised and widely used best practice across Europe.

When it comes to investor reporting, real estate asset managers face significant challenges.

The increasing volume of information requests from investors, coupled with evolving regulation, meaning the demands on fund managers are growing exponentially.

Investors expect detailed and consistent data on the performance of their real estate investments. Many use their own reporting templates, expect data to be extracted and collated from multiple sources, and have been steadily increasing their frequency of requests for granular, quantitative information.

At Alter Domus, we help our real estate clients with the preparation of investor financial reports in accordance with INREV guidelines to help them meet these ever-growing demands of their investors.
